3 Legislators Asked To Push Civil Rights

SIMSBURY, Conn. (UPI) — Sens. Thomas J. Dodd and Abraham A. Ribicoff and Rep. Bernard Grabowski, all Democrats of Connecticut, have been asked to work for the early passage of civil rights legislation.

The request was made Monday by the Committees on Human Rights of Avon, Canton, Farmington, Granby and Simsbury.

The committees sent the three lawmakers telegrams which said:

"The Committees on Human Rights of Avon, Canton, Farmington, Granby and Simsbury implore you to exert all your authority and influence toward immediate passage of effective civil rights legislation, both to honor by deed the life of John F. Kennedy and to relieve the burdens of Lyndon B. Johnson."
